Two pasted leaves depicting the sea-battle of Duinkerken with below printed text. Ca. 23 x 64,5 cm. € 650,00

Magnificent engraved view. - In the second half of 1639 Maarten Harpertzoon Tromp (1598-1653) encountered a large Spanish fleet that was commanded by admiral Antonio Oquendo and others. The Spanish fleet consisted of 45 men-of-war and 30 merchant vessels. It was transporting 13.000 Spanish soldiers to Flanders. An English squadron, under the command of Sir John Pennington had joined the Spanish fleet, a squadron under the command of Michiel Dorne had managed to escape the blockade at Duinkerken and had also jointed the Spanish fleet. Tromp attacked on October 21 and defeated the Spanish fleet at the Battle of the Downs. Only the squadron commanded by Dorne managed to escape to Duinkerken. Muller, Nederlandsche historieplaten, 1805.

Verhandelingen Bataviaasch Genootschap. - Description of the Lingga Islands or Archipelago (Kepulauan Lingga) a group of islands in Indonesia, located south of Singapore, along both sides of the equator, off the eastern coast of Riau Islands province on Sumatra island.

ADMIRAL GEORGE ANSON (1697-1762)

4 ANSON, George. Portrait of George Anson. (No pl.), 1751. Engraved circular portrait of Anson within an allegorical background, with text and coat of arms, after J. Wandelaar by J. Houbraken. Ca. 40,5 x 25 cm. sold

Fine portrait of the English admiral George Anson (1697-1762) depicting i.a the backs of the ships Wager, Pearl, Gloucester, Centurion, and Severn. With these ships and the Tryall and Anna he made his famous circumnavigation (1740-174). Although Anson lost most of his crew and all but one of his ships, he did return with a vast bounty.

5 ANSON, George. Reize naer de Zuidzee, met het schip de Wager, onder het opzicht van George Anson, ondernomen in den jaere 1740. Zynde een vervolg op de reize van George Anson. In't Nederduitsch vertaald. Leyden, Amsterdam, Johannes le Mair, Stephanus Jacobus Baalde, Cornelis van Hoogeveen, 1764.
4to. Old wrappers (spine half cloth). With title-page printed in red and black with fine engraved title-vignette, and 8 engraved plates (4 folding) after D. Kuipers by N. v.d. Meer. (36), 212,(16) pp. € 650,00

First Dutch edition. - Compilation of the narratives of Bulkeley, Cummins, Campbell and Morris. 'The Wager was one of Commodore Anson's fleet which was proceeding up the west coast of South America to harass the Spanish possessions. The ship ran aground on a small island in the Northwest part of the Gulf de la Penas, and broke up. The distresses endured caused the crew to divide, some electing to stay with Captain Cheap .. and the others to take the long boats and make their way back to the east coast. Bulkeley and Cummins were of the latter group. The navigation of the perilous seas, amid vast swarms of unknown islands and channels along the west coast of Patagonia or Chile is as marvelous as the men's capacity to endure cold, wet, and hunger. The voyage was successfully accomplished with the help of Narborough's charts. If there is a more desolate and rain-ridden coast than that of southern Chile, it remains yet to be discovered. This expedition of Anson's has many chroniclers' (Cox II, p.270). This is one of the most interesting of all narratives of shipwrecks, primarily because of what happened after the loss of the Wager (Huntress p.19). - A clean copy.

FAMOUS PRIVATEERING EXPEDITION

6 ANSON, George. Reize rondsom de wereld, gedaan in de jaaren 1740 tot 1744.. op een expeditie naar de Zuidzee; opgesteld uit de papieren en bescheiden van.. Anson zelve, en onder zyn opzigt uitgegeven door Richard Walter. Uit het Engelsch vertaald. Amsterdam, Isaak Tirion, 1748.
4to. Contemporary mottled calf, spine gilt (extremities rep.), with red morocco title label to spine. With title-page printed in red and black with fine engraved title-vignette, 15 folding maps and plans and 20 folding plates. (26), 386,(4) pp. € 1.850,00

First Dutch edition. - Official account of Anson's (1697-1762) famous privateering expedition (1740-1744) of seven vessels against Spanish commerce in the Pacific, edited from Anson's papers by Richard Walter, chaplain of the expedition. Although Anson lost most of his crew (an estimated 1000 lost to scurvy, 300 to typhus and dysentery, four in action and the remainder to shipwreck), and all but one of his ships, he did return with a vast bounty. Anson's voyage appears to have been the most popular book of maritime adventure of the 18th century. His exploits brought back new knowledge about the little-known regions around the southern tip of South America. - A fine copy.

9 BARNUM & BAILEY. The wonder book of freaks and animals in the Barnum & Bailey greatest show on earth. London, Walter Hill & Co, 1898.
Original lithographed wrappers (dam.). With many photographic illustrations of animals and 'strange human beings'. 35 pp. € 95,00

Nowhere else is there so fine a collection of strange and interesting animals from so great an area of the world's surface, and of such a large number of varieties. Nowhere else are there so many examples of the playful propensities of our mother-nature in dealing with her human children' (Preface). On show in the circus of Barnum and Bailey. - Rare.

FIRST BRITISH AMBASSY TO CHINA

10 BARROW, John. Reizen in China, inhoudende: beschrijvingen, aanmerkingen en vergelijkingen gemaakt en verzameld, gedurende het verblijf in het keizerlijk paleis, van Yuen-min en in eene daar op gevolgde reis door het land van Pekin tot Canton .. Uit het Engelsch. Haarlem, François Bohn, 1807-09.
3 volumes. Original boards (spines damaged but holding). With 2 hand-coloured portraits, 6 engravings with musical scores and 9 engraved plates (6 folding) after William Alexander by L. Portman and D. Veelwaard. VIII,288; VI,334; VI,341 pp.
€ 675,00

First Dutch edition. - John Barrow (1764-1848) accompanied Lord Macartney on the first British embassy to China in 1792, later becoming his private secretary. Barrow's account of the expedition is considered a most valuable contribution to the literature of western embassies to China. Of special interest are the description of the Imperial Palace in Peking, and the palace in Jehol, and also the observations on the life and character of the Qianlong Emperor. William Alexander, was also in the suite of Macartney's embassy, as artist. The strict exclusion of Europeans by the Chinese Emperors had left China very much terra incognita to the western world well into the nineteenth century' (Hill p.23). - Rare Dutch edition.

A DUTCH MERCHANT IN BENGAL

12 BOLTS, Willem. État civil, politique et commerçant, du Bengale; ou histoire des conquêtes & de l'administration de la Compagnie Angloise dans ce pays. Ouvrage traduit de l'Anglois. La Haye, Gosse, 1775.

2 volumes in 1. Contemporary mottled calf (hinges dam., but holding), spine gilt. With 2 engraved frontispieces and large folding engraved map. XL,222; 240 pp.

€ 395,00

First French edition. - Willem Bolts (c. 1740-1808) was a Dutch adventurer who entered the English East India Company in Bengal, and got into trouble for private trading in the name of the East India Company. The government of Benares sent him off to England as a prisoner. He sought legal action against them, but ruined himself in the proces. This vigorous exchange of views developed into a bitter controversy and played an important part in fuelling the extensive public debate that was taking place on the subject of the East India Company's operations in India. The French translation was made by Jean Nicolas Demeunier. - Pasted in is a letter in French, dated 1776, dealing with the ceding of Benares by the Rajah to the English East India Company.

3 volumes. Modern half morocco, uncut. XLVII,(1),370; XIV,356; XXIV,369,(27) pp.

€ 895,00

First Dutch edition. - 'The author came to the United States just before the French Revolution, for the purpose of selecting a suitable place for establishing a colony of respectable persons, who had determined to abandon the then despotic government of France .. M. Brissot was commissioned to collect every necessary information, prior to the execution of so important a plan. These volumes contain the result of his assiduous labors, and minute enquiries, and sufficiently manifest that he was qualified to accomplish such an arduous undertaking' (Sabin 8027). 'A favorable view of America, attracting to its shores many Europeans' (Howes p.75). - (Some waterstaining). - Rare Dutch edition.

2 volumes. Folio. Contemporary half calf, spines ribbed. With many illustrations (several in colours). € 675,00

Valuable study on the Danish in the East and West Indies and West Africa. Volume I: The Danish in Tranquebar, India 1616-1845 and on the Goldcoast, West Africa; Volume II: The Danish in the West Indies, St. Thomas, St. Jan, St. Croix, 1702-1917. - A very nice copy.

THE SOURCE OF THE NILE

16 BRUCE, James. Reis naar Abyssinie, en te rug door de groote woestijn van Nubie, verkort. Met aantekeningen van Blumenbach, Tychsen, Gmelin, en den Nederduitschen uitgever. Amsterdam, M. de Bruijn, 1801.

3 volumes. Contemporary half calf, spines gilt. With circular engraved portrait on 3 title-pages and 6 engraved plates (map missing). XLVIII,525; VI,528; VI,439 pp.

First Dutch edition. - James Bruce, Laird of Kinnaird (1730-1794), the first European to undertake an expedition aimed specifically at finding the Nile's source, failed in his attempt, but his exploration paved the way for many more travelers who came after him. In mid-1768 Bruce ascended the Nile from Alexandria and journeyed into the Ethiopian interior. In 1770 he believed to have found the source of the Nile near Gondar, the ancient capital of Abyssinia. Still he was mistaken, as he had not reached the source of the Nile, but only that of its considerable tributary. He descended the Blue Nile to its confluence with the White Nile at the site of present-day Khartoum. He was one of the earliest explorers to report this connection between the White and Blue Nile. The results of Bruce's travels was a very great enrichment of the knowledge of geography and ethnography especially of Ethiopia. His very readable account is still fascinating today. - 'One of the most splendid narratives in the literature of African exploration' (Hallet, Africa to 1875, p.110). - A fine set of the rare Dutch edition. Nissen, ZBI, 617 (English and French ed.); Ibrahim-Hilmy I, p.91 (other ed.); Gay 44 (French ed.); Blackmer Collection 221 (English ed.); not in Tiele.

17 BRUCE, James. Travels to discover the source of the Nile, in the years 1768, 1769, 1770, 1771, 1772, and 1773. Edinburgh, printed by J. Ruthven for G.G.J. and J. Robinson, 1790.

5 volumes. 4to. Contemporary marbled calf with gilt fillets round sides, spines gilt with red morocco labels (1 label missing; rebacked with the original spines laid down, some wear to spines and extremities), inner dentelles. With engraved title-vignettes, 3 battle plans, 3 folding maps, 4 leaves of Ethiopian dialects and 55 engraved plates.

€ 4.950,00

THE MUGHAL EMPIRE

22 CATROU, François. Histoire generale de l'empire du Mogol depuis sa fondation sur les mémoires portugais de M. Manouchi, Vénitien. La Haye, Guillaume de Voys, 1708.

Sm.8vo. Contemporary calf, spine gilt (sl. rubbed). With engraved title-vignette and large folding engraved map. (24),380 pp. € 475,00

First published in French in 1705; with armorial bookplate of Philip Lord Hardwicke Baron of Hardwicke. - 'Niccolao Manucci's book, from which Catrou drew much of his material, was not printed until 1907, when it was translated by William Irvine (the Indian Text Society), of the Bengal Civil Service, for the reason that it had disappeared from view until it turned up in Berlin a few years ago. Its title was Storia do Mogor and it was written partly in Italian, partly in French, and partly in Portuguese. Historians have long bewailed its disappearance, for hitherto they have been unable to check the statements of Catrou. Manucci practically spent his life in India and witnessed so many things and records them so fully and delightfully that he is almost second to none as an historian of Aurangzib's reign' (Cox I, p.285). 'A la suite des évènements historiques, le P. Catrou a donné, des revenus, du gouvernement et de la police du Mogol' (Boucher de la Richarderie V, p.67). - A fine copy.

THE NORTHWEST PASSAGE

34 ELLIS, Henry. Reize naar de Baai van Hudson, ter ontdekkinge van eenen Noord-Wester doortogt, gedaan in de jaaren 1746, en 1747, met de schepen de Dobbs-Galley en de California; met eene naauwkeurige beschryving der kust, eene korte natuurlyke historie van het land, en een klaar vertoog der bewys-stukken en redenen, dewelke dienen om de waarschyndykheid aan te toonen dat zulk een doortogt in't vervolg zal gevonden worden... Uit het Engelsch vertaalt. Leiden, Elias Luzac, Jun., 1750. Contemporary vellum. With title-page printed in red and black and engraved title-vignette, folding map and 9 folding engraved plates by N. v. Frankendaal. XXXII,440 pp. € 1.650,00

First Dutch edition. - 'The first part contains a synopsis of twenty-three English voyages to discover the Northwest Passage, a history of the rise of the Hudson' Bay Company, and the discovery attempted from New England. The second part gives an account of a voyage under Captains G. Moor and Francis Smith, financed by private subscription, with Arthur Dobbs as the leading subscriber of the Northwest Committee. Ellis, also a subscriber, was hydrographer, surveyor, and mineralogist on the expedition, which proved, finally the nonexistence of a Northwest Passage from Hudson Bay. The work includes many valuable observations on tides, on the vagaries of the compass, and on the customs of the Eskimoss, a people then practically unknown' (Hill p. 189). The author also gives detailed information regarding the flora and fauna of the region. He was appointed governor of Nova Scotia in 1761 (to 1763). 'The book was enormously popular (not at least for its copperplate engravings), and saw numerous reprintings and translations in Dutch, German, and French' (Stam, Books on ice, p. 12). - A very fine copy of a rare book.

EXPEDITION TO THE MOLUCCAS AND NEW GUINEA

40 FORREST, (Thomas). Voyage aux Moluques et a la Nouvelle Guinée, fait sur la galere La Tartare en 1774, 1775 & 1776, par ordre de la Compagnie Angloise. Paris, Hôtel de Thou, 1780.

4to. Contemporary mottled calf (sl. stained; one hinge damaged but holding), spine richly gilt, with red morocco label to spine. With large folding engraved map and 28 (7 folding) engraved plates and maps, by Benard and with woodcut head- and tail-pieces. (6),470,(1) pp. € 1.850,00

First French edition, translated by Demeunier. - Thomas Forrest (1729 - ca.1802) was engaged in 1770 in forming the new settlement at Balambangan, Borneo. His expedition in charge of the English East-India Company (1774-1776) to the Moluccas and New Guinea, in pursuance of new sources of trade, was made in the Tartar, a native boat of about ten tons burden, with two English officers and a crew of eighteen Malays. He pushed the exploration as far as Geelvink Bay in New Guinea (further east than any of his company predecessors). The voyage was one of examination and enquiry rather than of exploration, and the additions made to geographical knowledge were corrections of detail rather than startling discoveries, but the tact with which he conducted his intercourse with the natives, and the amount of work done in a small boat, deservedly won him credit as a navigator (Hill p.219). The introduction contains a survey of the voyages made to New Guinea since 1511 and at the end is added a vocabulary of the Magindano language. - (Lower part of some margins waterstained). Hill 623 (English ed.); Cox II, p.302; Ruinen C 66 (English ed.); Henze II, p.261; Boucher de la Richarderie VI, p.413-416; Chadenat 571.

THE EAST INDIA COMPANY'S FORT IN MADRAS

41 FORT St. GEORGE ON THE COROMANDEL COAST. Belonging to the East India Company of England. - LE FORT ST. GEORGE SUR LA COTE DE COROMANDEL. Appartemente a la Compagnie Angloise des Indes Orientales. London, Laurie & Whittle, 1794.

Engraved optical view after I. van Ryne, coloured by hand. Ca. 26 x 40 cm. € 1.150,00

Fine bird's-eye view from offshore of the fort in Madras with many ships in the foreground. 'Madras was the Company's first fortified settlement in India; the construction of Fort St George began in 1640 and continued on and off for another 150 years. It houses all the administrative and military necessities, as well as St Mary's church (the oldest Anglican church in India), finished in 1680. The Old College, the equivalent of the Writers' Building in Calcutta, was one of the Company's few eighteenth-century buildings in the gothic style, and still stands' (Wild, The East India Company, p.52). - Some foxing otherwise fine.

A VOYAGE TO THE SOUTH SEAS

42 FREZIER, (Amédée François). Reis-beschryving door de Zuid-Zee, langs de kusten van Chili, Peru en Brazil, opgesteld op eene reistocht gedaan in de jaren 1712, 1713, en 1714. Nevens eene beschryvinge van de regeringe der Yncas, koningen van Peru, en hun ryk, zo als het was voor den komst der Spanjaarden aldaar. Het eene uit het Fransch vertaalt, en het andere opgemaakt uit verscheide schryveren, door Isaak Verburg. Amsterdam, R. en G. Wetstein, 1718.

4to. Contemporary calf, central gilt ornament within gilt fillets and gilt corner decorations to sides, gilt inner dentelles, spine richly gilt in compartments, a.e.g. With title printed in red and black, engraved frontispiece, 14 engraved plates (2 folding) and 23 engraved maps and plans (17 folding). (16),406,(9) pp. € 2.250,00

First and only Dutch edition. - An interesting account of the voyage from France, Madeira and the Cape Verde Islands, Santa Catarina Islands, off the coast of Brazil, Tierra del Fuego, through the Straits of Le Maire around Cape Horn and continuing along the coast of South America as far as Lima, describing the chief towns and cities. During his return from Lima, Frézier took the trouble to correct the contemporary charts of the southernmost tip of South America, discovering a new channel in Tierra del Fuego and suppressing many of the imaginary lands previously shown on the maps. His survey also included the Falkland Islands which for the first time were identified as being the same as 'Sebald's Islands.' The return voyage called at Bahia, the Azores and Gibraltar' (Howgego p.399). The observant Frézier brought back information of considerable geographical and scientific value. Much data is included about the native inhabitants, and the work also contains an interesting account of guano. Frézier introduced the ancestor of the modern strawberry to France from Chile (Hill p.231). - (First blank lvs waterstained; some marginal wormholes in first lvs; last lvs waterstained).

Contemporary green polished calf, gilt fillets round sides, inner dentelles, spine richly gilt in compartments, with red and brown labels to spine. XI,309 pp. € 375,00

In 1825 Head sailed for Buenos Aires with a staff of Cornish miners, and crossed the Pampas, only to find that the concessions had in the meantime been granted to rival companies. Leaving his staff at Mendoza he returned to Buenos Aires for instructions, then made his way overland to Santiago de Chile. He then re-crossed the Andes, collected the miners left at Mendoza and took the entire party back to Chile, where they travelled some 2000 kilometres prospecting for mines. When it became evident that local managers were reluctant to employ European staff, Head took his miners back to Buenos Aires and returned with them to England .. His book, which earned him the nickname of 'Gallop Head', was praised by Darwin for its accuracy (Howgego p.277). - A fine copy. Sabin 31134.

4to. Later half calf, spine letterd in gilt. With woodengraving on title-page and 18 woodengravings in the text. 96 pp. € 2.950,00

4th edition, the first with woodengravings, first published in 1675. - Chapbook with one of the most popular accounts of disastrous voyages by the Dutch East India Company (VOC) describing the shipwreck on a desert island. Hunger and cannibalism are the themes of this popular account of the East Indiaman Ter Schelling. The author, a member of the crew, kept a journal of his experiences, and the woodcuts illustrate the crew's adventures both at sea and on land. The ship left Batavia (Jakarta) under captain Jacob Jansz. Stroom in 1661 and wrecked on a sandbank off the shore of Bengal and finally reached mainland Bengal where they were conscripted into the Mogul army to fight against the kingdom of Assam. The gruesome massacre of captives by the Nabob is described and illustrated followed by accounts of the kingdoms of Arrakan, Martabab, Tanassery, Bengala and Patan along the coast of the Bay of Bengal from modern Bangladesh to Burma. - A good copy of a very rare edition of a gripping true-life adventure story.

THE MOST COMPREHENSIVE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY ACCOUNT OF SOUTH AMERICA

62 JUAN, Jorge & Antonio de ULLOA. Historische reisbeschrijving van geheel Zuid-America; gedaan op bevel des konings van Spanje.

Goes, Jacobus Huysman, 1771-72.

2 volumes. 4to. Contemporary mottled calf, spines richly gilt, with morocco labels to spines. With title-pages printed in red and black, engraved allegorical frontispiece, 11 engraved plates (6 folding) and 14 folding maps and plans by H. Vinkeles, J. van Schley, and J. van Jagen. (8),XXIV,428; VIII,IV,406 pp. € 2.450,00

First Dutch edition, with new and improved plates and maps. - The most comprehensive 18th century account of South America giving the results of the scientific expedition by a group of leading European scientists. Primary source for the history of Peru, Chile, Ecuador and Colombia. This voyage arose out of the desire of the French government. Members of the Academy of Sciences, under the leadership of Charles-Marie de la Condamine, together with two of the most scientific officers of the Spanish navy, Antonio de Ulloa (1716-1795) and Jorge Juan y Santacilla (1713-1773), 'carried on a series of operations of unexampled difficulty and encountered hardships and sufferings which demanded the strength of the strongest constitutions and the energy of minds stimulated by a love of science' (Cox II, p.275). 'Juan and Ulloa's Travels may be selected as the most entertaining and satisfactory work of its kind' (Sabin 36813). - A very fine copy.

First edition. - The anonymous publication of Images of Light and Shadow from Java's interior, created a lot of bad feeling which impeded but could not prevent its appearance in the Netherlands. In the Netherlands Indies, the book was what we would now call a best seller. Junghuhn's book was prohibited in Austria and in several German states and principalities because of its alleged 'denigrations and vilifications of Christianity' (Nieuwenhuys, Mirror of the Indies, p.69). - (Waterstained throughout). *Cat. #### THE MOST POPULAR OF ALL SHIPWRECK NARRATIVES

64 KEATE, George. An account of the Pelew Islands, situated in the western part of the Pacific Ocean, composed from the journals and communications of Captain Henry Wilson, and some of his officers, who, in august 1783, were there shipwrecked, in the Antelope, a packet belonging to the hon. East India Company. Dublin, Luke White, 1793.

8vo. Contemporary calf, gilt fillets round sides, spine gilt, with red morocco title label to spine. With engraved portrait frontispiece, folding engraved map and 15 engraved portraits and plates. XXX,378 pp.

'In 1783 the Antelope, commanded by Captain Henry Wilson, was wrecked on a reef near one of the Palau (Pelew) Islands, a previously unexplored group. The entire crew managed to get safely ashore, where they were well treated by the natives and eventually managed to build a small vessel from the wreck, in which they reached Macao. They took Prince Lee Boo, one of king Abba Thulle's sons, with them to England, where he made a very good impression. Unhappily, in spite of all precautions, he soon died of smallpox' (Hill 907). 'This was one of the most popular of all shipwreck narratives, partly because of the happy ending of the adventure and partly because of the detailed descriptions of the Pelew Islands' natural features and society' (Huntress 107C). Including a vocabulary of the Pelew language. - A fine copy.

A CATHOLIC SETTLEMENT IN KENTUCKY

65 KLYN LORETTEN IN NOORD-AMERICA - PETIT LORETTE ETATS UNIS DE L'AMERIQUE - LITTLE LORETTO KENTUCKY UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. (No pl., ca. 1815). Engraving by Courtois à Malines depicting a view of a Catholic settlement in Kentucky, with beneath three key columns in Dutch, French and English. Ca. 29 x 35 cm. € 1.250,00

Engraving of the Kentucky frontier community of 'Little Loretto', a religious settlement of the congregation of the 'Sisters of Loretto', founded in 1812 by the Belgian catholic priest Charles Nerinckx (Herffelingen 1761 - Ste. Genevieve, Missouri, 1824). He came to the United States in 1804 to assist Father Theodore Badin, the only priest in Kentucky. The engraving depicts a complex of log cabins, with the sisters gathered directly in the center, surrounding the vision of Mary with the Holy Crucifix directly above her, and two crimson banners, carried by angels, reading 'O suffering Jesus' and 'O sorrowful Mary'. The Order is still in existence today as well as part of the original settlement. It is probable that this engraving was made as an adjunct to Nerinckx's fundraising campaign, and published in Mechelen, where he attended seminary. - A rare image in good condition.

THE FIRST TRUSTWORTHY DESCRIPTION OF CEYLON

Vertaald door S. de Vries. Utrecht, Wilhelm Broedelet, 1692.
4to. Contemporary vellum (sl. soiled). With engraved frontispiece, folding map (margin rep.), and 8 engraved plates by Jan Luyken. (16),291,(26),(1) pp. € 1.950,00

First Dutch edition. - Robert Knox (1641-1720), a Scotch commander in the service of the English East India Company, was forced by a storm into the harbour of Cottiar Bay, Ceylon, aboard the Ann. Knox, his father and 16 others were imprisoned and after nearly 20 years they could escape to the Dutch settlement of Aripo on the N.W. coast. From there he was sent to Batavia and thence to England. The original English edition of 1681 is the first trustworthy description in English of the interior of Ceylon, of which previously only the coastal regions, controlled by the Dutch, were explored. 'Knox's Relation was the most comprehensive and accurate description of the kingdom of Kandy written during the seventeenth century. Even the Dutch writers had not enjoyed the oportunities for observing the kingdom that Knox had. After having lived in Kandyan villages for nearly twenty years and having become fluent in Sinhalese, his was very much a view from inside. It is a fascinating account and in the judgement of his modern editor still 'the best available source book for the social and economic history of Ceylon in the seventeenth century' (Lach, Asia in the making, III, p.577). A fascinating unparalleled source-book for 17th century Ceylon. - A nice copy.

With 2 title-pages printed in red and black, engraved allegorical frontispiece, engraved map and 41 engraved plates. (54),560 pp. (wrongly numbered). € 2.250,00

First Dutch edition. - Joseph François Lafiteau (1681-1746) was a Jesuit missionary assigned to Canada from 1711 to 1718. He served the Iroquois mission of Sault Saint-Louis from 1712 to 1717. This encyclopaedic work is one of the most earliest accounts. He describes with great detail and accuracy the customs, religious beliefs and social organization of the Iroquois and Huron Indians. The engraved plates are finely executed and illustrative of aboriginal life and peculiarities. This work is a pioneering anthropological study. - With small library stamp of the Rhode Island Historical Society. - A fine copy.

TRAVELS INTO THE INTERIOR PARTS OF AFRICA

71 LE VAILLANT, François. Second voyage dans l'intérieur de l'Afrique, par le Cap de Bonne-Espérance, dans les années 1783, 84 et 85. Paris, H.J. Jansen et Comp., l'an 3 (1795).

3 volumes. 8vo. Contemporary calf, gilt fillets round sides, spines richly gilt, with red and green morocco labels to spines. With 22 engraved plates (5 folding). XLIV,304; (2)426,(2); 525,(7) pp. € 895,00

First French edition. - 'Le Vaillant was born at Paramaribo in Dutch Guiana in 1753, and after being educated in Holland, France, and Germany, proceeded to Paris where he studied the natural history collections, and, full of enthusiasm and ambition, decided to travel into the interior of Africa in order to further his opportunities of gaining information by observing the specimens in their native countries. Making the acquaintance of Mr. Temminck, the Treasurer of the Dutch East India Company, he was enabled to proceed to the Cape in one of the Company's ships called the Held-Woltemaade ... The narrative is characterised by the intelligent and interesting manner in which it is written.' (Mendelssohn pp.889-890). #### A VERY POPULAR WORK

76 MARANA, Giovanni Paolo. Letters writ by a Turkish spy, who lived five and forty years undiscovered at Paris: giving an impartial account of the Divan at Constantinople .. 26th edition. London, A. Wilde a.o., 1770. 8 volumes. Sm.8vo. Contemporary calf, spines richly gilt with red and green morocco labels to spines. With engraved frontispiece. € 850,00

First English translation published in 1687; with armorial bookplate of John Worth. - 'Marana, the author of volume I, was an Italian journalist long resident in France. He was the first to use the literary device of the 'foreign observer' which was developed later by Montesquieu and Goldsmith. Volumes II-VIII are not by Marana and were not translated from the French. It has been generally agreed that the author was William Bradshaw, a literary hack who worked for the eccentric bookseller John Dunton and later for Robert Midgely, who some consider to be the editor of the Turkish Spy. The work was very popular .. a total of twenty-six editions appeared by 1770' (Blackmer p.226). - (A few marginal wormholes in vol. IV and VIII). - A fine set. Blackmer Collection 1072; not in the Atabey Collection.

78 MAURIK, Justus van. Indrukken van een 'Tòtòk'. Indische typen en schetsen. 4e druk. Amsterdam, Van Holkema & Warendorf, (ca.1900).
8vo. Original pictorial cloth (top of spine sl. dam.). With ca. 200 illustrations after Johan Braakensiek and W.O.J. Nieuwenkamp. VII,385 pp. € 145,00

In his book Impressions of a newcomer it was obvious Van Maurik had appropriated all the Indies prejudices during his brief stay there: the imperfect speech of Eurasians amused him, and he portrayed the native Indonesians as a childlike people. He repeated all the club and barroom stories and larded them with his own banal humor. .. No wonder then that Justus van Maurik's trip had been a great succes about which people talked for years (Nieuwenhuys, Mirror of the Indies, p.135).

SECOND ATTEMPT BY THE BRITISH TO OPEN TRADE WITH CHINA

79 McLEOD, John. Voyage of his majesty's ship Alceste to China, Corea, and the Island of Lewchew, with an account of her shipwreck. 3rd edition. London, John Murray, 1819.
Contemporary blind-tooled calf (hinges weak but holding), gilt fillets round sides, rebacked with the original spine laid down, spine richly gilt, with green morocco label to spine, inner dentelles. With portrait frontispiece, folding map and 5 hand-coloured aquatints. VI,(1),339 pp. € 875,00

First published in 1817; the 3rd edition is the first edition with the map. - 'The Alceste and the Lyra conveyed Lord Amherst's embassy to China, which was the second attempt by the British to open trade with China, after the first effort by Lord Macartney. The Alceste reached Rio de Janeiro in 1816, and then proceeded to the Cape of Good Hope. After a short visit there, Batavia was touched at in order to deliver dispatches for the evacuation of the country and reinstatement of Dutch control, after which the Alceste continued on to China. While the matters of the embassy were proceeding, the ships sailed on an expedition for the survey and exploration of the west coast of Korea and the Ryukyu Islands. In the course of this work a long visit was made to Okinawa. The people were very hospitable to the sailors and gave them a kindly, though careful, reception. On the return voyage, after taking Lord Amherst on board at Macao, Manilla was visited, and then, in Gaspar Strait off the coast of Sumatra, the Alceste struck a submerged reef and became a total loss. The crew and passengers reached the small adjacent island of Pulo Leat safely. Lord Amherst proceeded to Batavia to fetch help while the sailors fortified their island retreat, named Fort Maxwell after their captain. A long and vivid account is given of their experiences, of how they were attacked by Malay pirates, and of their final rescue. On their return voyage, St. Helena was visited, and an interesting account is given of an interview with Napoleon. Dr. M'Leod, the author of this account, was ship's surgeon on board the Alceste' (Hill p.407). - A fine copy.

82 MONTAGUE, MARY WORTHLY. Letters of the right honourable Lady M-y W-y M-e; written during her travels in Europe, Asia and Africa, to persons of distinction ... which contain, among other curious relations, accounts of the policy and manners of the Turks. New edition. London, T. Becket and P.A. de Hondt, 1767.
3 volumes. Sm.8vo. Contemporary calf with gilt fillets round sides (some hinges weak), spines ribbed with red morocco title-labels (extremities sl. dam.). XII,(4),180; (4),195; (4),230 pp. € 975,00

First published in 1763; with written owner's name Moseley 1767. - Lady Mary Worthly Montague (1689-1762) was the first lady to travel abroad for mere curiosity's sake. In 1716 she accompanied her husband, Edward Montague, on his diplomatic mission to Constantinople, making the journey overland. The letters she wrote back home are justly ranked among the most celebrated of their kind in a century richly endowed with excellent letterwriters. She became a great admirer of Turkish culture and her work includes in sights that were exceptional for their time. A year after her death, her Turkish letters were published for the first time and they have not been out of print since.

THE LOSS OF THE AMERICAN SHIP JANSON
OFF THE COAST OF DEN HELDER

83 MOOIJ, Jan. Het zinken van het Amerikaanse schip Janson voor de Helder. Komende van Batavia op den 4de februarij 1820. Original watercolour, signed J. Mooij. Ca. 41,5 x 54,5 cm. € 4.950,00

The loss of the American ship Janson off the coast of Den Helder, captain Benjamin Mayo, owned by S.G. Arnold & Co, Joseph S. Martin a.o. depicted by the Dutch marine artist Jan Mooij (1776-1847) who lived in Den Helder and was an eye-witness of the shipwreck. 'The ship Janson of Providence, Rhode Island, had arrived at Texel Road off New Dieppe from Batavia with a valuable cargo of coffee and rice. Starting from the right the watercolour shows three stages: 1. anchored amid drift ice that stove in the bow, 2. the ship is sinking and the crew is making efforts to abandon ship, 3. the ship is about to disappear. According to one report, nothing was saved but 'all hands' and the stern boat. The ship's pet monkey is running up the rigging of the main mast as the ship is about to sink completely'. This text was taken from the book by J. Welles Henderson and Rodney P. Carlisle Marine art & antiques Jack Tar a sailor's life 1750-1910. (Woodbridge 1999) with on page 230 also the image. An account of the shipwreck was published in the Providence Patriot, March 15, 1820 and in the Providence Gazette, March 13, 1820. An extract of a letter (February 1820) of the captain to the owners of the ship is added in photocopy. - In excellent condition. Scheen II, p.74.

€ 2.150,00

First Dutch edition. - In 1761, at the invitation of Frederick V, King of Denmark, Carsten Niebuhr (1733-1815) joined a Danish government-sponsored scientific expedition to explore the Arabian Peninsula, known as Arabia Felix. The five other members, who would die all during the expedition, were Peter Forrskal, a Swedish naturalist, Christian Kramer, a Danish physician and zoologist, George Baurenfeind, a German artist, Friedrich von Haven, a Danish linguist, and a former Swedish military man named Berggren. They, disguised as Muslims, sailed on a ship carrying pilgrims to the Arabian port of Jidda. Niebuhr's account of his journey in Arabia and the Persian Gulf provided Europeans with the first comprehensive descriptions of the region; his map of Yemen was the first to detail scientifically that portion of the Arabian Peninsula. 'There are few better demonstrations of how little was still known about the Arab world in the second half of the eighteenth century than the Danish expedition which set sail for the east in 1761' (Europe and the Arab world, 48). - A fine copy of a classic of early Arabian exploration.

THE FIRST DUTCH EMBASSY TO THE EMPEROR OF CHINA

87 NIEUHOF, Joan. L'ambassade de la Compagnie Orientale des Provinces Unies vers l'empereur de la Chine, ou Grand Cam de Tartarie, faite par Pierre de Goyer, & Jacob de Keyser.. Mis en François .. par Jean le Carpentier. Leyde, Jacob de Meurs, 1665.

2 volumes in 1. Folio. Contemporary panelled calf with blind-tooled central ornament and ornaments in the corners on both covers, skilfully rebaked with the original spine laid down, spine ribbed and gilt. With title printed in red and black, engraved allegorical frontispiece, engraved vignette on title, engraved portrait, folding map (skilfully remargined), 34 double-page plates (Paolinxi plate not inserted as usual) and 110 nice large engravings in the text. (18),290; 134,(1) pp.

First French edition, published the same year as the original Dutch edition. - In 1665 Nieuhof published what is regarded as the definitive account of the Dutch embassy to Peking, and it is for this that he is best known (Howgego p.752). Nieuhof's account presented the Dutch reader with the most substantial and detailed description of the Middle Kingdom yet published. It contains information from the most important Jesuit sources and adds to them the observations of one of the first Dutchmen to travel in China's interior and visit the capital. Nieuhof's book is lavishly illustrated (providing) European readers with more realistic visual images of China's landscape and people than ever before (Lach-Kley, Asia in the making, III, p.484. First embassy of the Dutch East India Company (VOC) of Pieter de Goyer and Jakob de Keyser to the court of China in the years 1655-57, describing all the events during this mission, the country, people, flora & fauna, etc. One of the very few non-Jesuit sources of the period. It is richly illustrated with large views of all ports and places visited, starting with Batavia, and with numerous nice text-engravings illustrating in detail Chinese life in the 17th century. The Paolinxi-plate mentioned in the index is actually only present in the Latin edition. - With armorial bookplate of De Forlia. - A fine copy. *Tiele 801; Landwehr, VOC, 540; Cat. 88 NIEUWENTYT, Bernard. Het regt gebruik der werelt beschouwingen ter overtuiging van ongodisten en ongelovigen aangetoont. 6e druk. Amsterdam, Adrianus Douci, 1754.

4to. Contemporary mottled calf, spine gilt (extremities of spine damaged). With title-page printed in red and black with nice emblematic vignette, fine engraved portrait after Dk. Valkenburg by P. van Gunst, and 28 folding engraved plates. (12),916,(17) pp. € 450,00

Bernard Nieuwentyt (1654-1718), mathematician and philosopher and burgomaster of Purmerend, is perhaps best remembered for his controversy with Leibniz; as a methodologist he was unequaled up to modern times. He was a follower of Descartes and opponent of Spinoza. In this scientific treatise, his main work, he attacks Spinoza and his school from a biblical point of view. The plates depict anatomical, physiological, mathematical, optical and astronomical figures.

PARRY'S MOST SUCCESSFUL VOYAGE

93 PARRY, William Edward. Journal of a voyage for the discovery of a North-West passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific; performed in the years 1819-20, in his majesty's ships Hecla and Griper. With an appendix, containing the scientific and other observations. 2nd edition. London, John Murray, 1821.
4to. Later half calf with old boards, spine gilt with black title-label. With 6 engraved charts (4 folding), 5 lithographed profiles and 9 aquatint plates by W. Westall after Beechey. (8),XXIX,310,CLXXIX pp. € 1.650,00

First edition published the same year. - The first (and most successful) of Parry's four voyages under his own command. By August 1, 1819, Sir William Edward Parry (1790-1855) had managed to sail westward completely through Lancaster Sound, establishing that it was actually a strait. He then made the European discovery of Barrow Street, which he named after Sir John Barrow. Continuing westward, he reached the south coast of a large island he named Melville Island after Lord Melville. Parry and his men had sailed west of the 110th meridian of longitude, half the distance of the Northwest Passage, and thereby won a prize of £ 5.000, which Parliament had offered as an incentive for the discovery of the Northwest Passage. - (Some spotting and foxing as usual). - Fine.

AN EXCELLENT ACCOUNT OF CEYLON

95 PERCIVAL, Robert. An account of the island of Ceylon, containing its history, geography, natural history, with the manners and customs of its various inhabitants; to which is added, the journal of an embassy to the court of Candy. Second edition: With an appendix; containing some particulars of the recent hostilities with the King of Candy. London, printed by and for C. and R. Baldwin, 1805.
4to. Contemporary half calf (hinges weak but holding), spine gilt with red morocco title-label. With engraved frontispiece, engraved folding map by A. Arrowsmith, 3 engraved folding charts (harbors of Trincomalay and Columbo and pearl fishery grounds) and 4 engraved plates. XII,446,(2) pp. € 1.450,00

Second and best edition. - Excellent account of Ceylon to which in this second edition not only an appendix was added but also an index and the plates. - The British succeeded the Dutch in Ceylon in 1796, Captain Robert Percival arrived with the British forces in 1797 and spent three years in Sri Lanka. He was, as he writes, „induced by curiosity“ because „the accounts hitherto published of this island had been extremely imperfect; as the watchful jealousy of the Dutch both excluded the researches of strangers, and prevented their own people from publishing any observations.. „. He had a pronounced hatred of the cruelty of Dutch rule. In 1800 he joined General Macdowal's embassy to the court of Candy and gives a valuable report of this happening. In his description of pearl fishery he brings to life the extravaganza, the customs and superstitions of the fisherman and the dangers of the deep. Among the plates i.a. a view on the fort of Batacolo, elephant hunting, and the Cinnamon gardens near Columbo. - A fine copy.

THE FIRST BRITISH ATTEMPT TO REACH THE NORTH POLE SINCE 1615

97 PHIPPS, Constantine John. A voyage towards the North Pole undertaken by his majesty's command 1773. London, printed by W. Bowyer and J. Nichols for J. Nourse, 1774.

4to. Modern half calf, with red morocco title label to spine. With folding engraved plan, 2 folding engraved charts, 12 folding or double page engraved views and plates. VIII,253,(1) pp. € 2.950,00

First edition. - 'Official account written by Captain Phipps, later Lord Mulgrave. The expedition of the Racehorse and Carcass, undertaken for the purpose of discovering a route to India through the northern polar regions, was blocked by pack ice of Spitsbergen. The valuable appendix gives geographical and meteorological observations, zoological and botanical records, accounts of the distillation of fresh water from the sea, and astronomical observations. The voyage is perhaps best remembered for the presence of young Horatio Nelson, as midshipsman aboard the Carcass, and his encounter with a polar bear' (Hill 1351). Phipps's narrative of his voyage was of considerable scientific interest and was the beginning of modern efforts to reach the North Pole. It also made an important addition to the knowledge of the natural productions of Spitsbergen. - The first British attempt to reach the North Pole since 1615. - (Age-browned). - A fine copy.

COLONIAL LIFE IN BARBADOS AND ALONG THE GUIANA COASTS

98 PINCKARD, George. Notes on the West Indies: written during the expedition under the command of .. Ralph Abercromby: including observations on the island of Barbadoes, and the settlements captured by the British troops, upon the coast of Guiana; likewise remarks relating to the creoles and slaves of the western colonies, and the Indians of South America; with occasional hints, regarding the seasoning, or yellow fever of hot climates London, Longman, Hurst, Rees, and Orme, 1806. 3 volumes. Later half calf, spines gilt, with red and green morocco title labels to spines. XXIV,448; XX,472; XIX,(1),456 pp. € 1.500,00

First edition. - 'The author was deputy inspector general of hospitals in the British army. He accompanied General Sir Ralph Abercromby to the West Indies and while not on service became well acquainted with the regions where he was stationed for the time being. He gives us interesting pictures of Plymouth in war time, of the agonizing delay while awaiting embarkation orders, of the break-up of the fleet in a storm, of a visit to slave ships, and intimate and varied accounts of colonial life in Barbados and along the Guiana coast as well as of the vicissitudes of soldier life in the colonies. He received unfavorable impressions of slavery. Urges emancipation, holding that abolition could be regarded as only a step in that direction' (Ragatz pp.231-232). - (Age-browned). - A fine set.

THE CLASSIC DESCRIPTION OF JAVA

103 RAFFLES, Thomas Stamford. The history of Java. London, Black, Parbury, and Allen, and John Murray, 1817.

2 volumes. 4to. Modern blind-tooled half calf. With 2 maps (one large folding of Java), 10 hand-coloured plates and 53 etched or aquatint plates, and some engraved vignettes. XLVIII,479; VIII,288,(3),CCLX pp. € 6.250,00

First edition. - Raffles (1781-1826) 'was interested in every aspect of his subject, and devotes whole sections to Javan ethics, literature, poetry, music, and musical instruments, drama, games of skill and methods of hunting, besides the more ordinary matters of interest population, natural history, religion, antiquities, and the military system .. The history of Java stands very high in its own class, and the aquatint plates are full of interest' (Prideaux p.252-253). 'In terms of the pictorial depiction of Javanese costume and topography the importance of the History of Java can hardly be exaggerated .. The marriage of a scientifically original text with beautiful illustrations by an accomplished aquatint engraver resulted in a book about Indonesia of outstanding quality; indeed, a masterpiece' (Bastin-Brommer p.6-7). The ten coloured aquatints, though unsigned are by William Daniell, illustrate Javanese life and costume, and the Papuan boy who accompanied Raffles to England in 1816. The plate of the Borobudur is one of the first depictions of the monument. 'An influential work valued for the author's firsthand observations on the customs and condition of the Javanese under his administration as Governor-General during the British occupation of the Dutch East Indies (1811-1815)' (Von Hünersdorff, Kaffee, 1213). Raffles' History of Java, the source of many basic Western ideas about the area, remains the starting point for studies of the Eastern archipelago- A fine copy.

INCLUDING THE LIFE OF THE BLACK LEADER
TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE

104 RAINSFORD, Marcus. St. Domingo, of het land der Zwartten in Hayti en deszelfs omwenteling. Naar het Engelsch. Amsterdam, Johannes Allart, 1806.

2 volumes. Original boards, uncut. With folding engraved map, folding engraved plan, 3 folding facsimiles, and 9 engraved plates by R. Vinkele and D. Vrydag after M. Rainsford. XXVIII,410,(1); VII,(1),416 pp. € 1.250,00

First Dutch edition. - Rainsford was a British officer in the West Indies who was driven ashore on St. Domingo, where he was sentenced to death as a spy but was released on the orders of Toussaint L'Ouverture. L'Ouverture was born in Haiti in 1743 and was slave for 50 years before he joined the revolutionaries. Using his genius and extraordinary military ability he led them drive first the French, then the English, followed by the Spanish, from the island of Haiti. Napoleon Bonaparte was determined to recapture the possessions for his empire so fighting started again. After Napoleon promised liberty and equality, L'Ouverture accepted the truce after which he was arrested and sent to France where he died in prison. 'A former slave who emerged as the dominant figure in the Haitian Revolution, Toussaint Louverture is arguable the most important black leader in the history of the Americas. Even though he did not live to see an independent Haiti, Louverture (as he became known after the revolution) made independence possible. He became a formidable symbol of black power, dignity, and autonomy in the Americas, both for those aspired to and for those who abhorred this possibility' (Rodriguez, Historical encycl. of world slavery, II, p.418). Detailed history of the island, the rise of the Black Republic, its army and the brutal war with the French, and description of the life of Toussaint L'Ouverture. - Scarce.

THE FIRST IMPORTANT DICTIONARY OF THE SUNDANESE LANGUAGE

- 108 RIGG, Jonathan. A dictionary of the Sunda language of Java. Batavia, Lange & Co., 1862.
4to. Modern cloth. XVI,537,V pp. € 595,00

Verhandelingen Bataviaasch Genootschap. - 'The study of Sundanese may be said to begin with the publication in 1862 of the extensive dictionary compiled by Jonathan Rigg, an English landowner who lived in Djasinga, near the border between the regencies of Bogor and Banten. At that time scarcely existed any accurate knowledge about the language. Sundanese or as it was sometimes called Mountain-Javanese, was supposed to be a kind of coarse Javanese dialect. Raffles' opinion on the relation between Javanese and Sundanese was expressed in the following way: 'the Sunda, with reference to the Javan, may be viewed in much the same light as the Welch is to the English' .. Rigg's dictionary initiated a new period of more intensive study of Sundanese' (Uhlenbeck, Languages of Java and Madura, p. 10-11). - Rare.

First Dutch edition was published in 1653. - George Sandys (1578-1644) was the son of the Archbishop of York and a literary figure of some standing. In 1609 he set sail for the East and he spent the next year travelling in Turkey, Egypt and Palestine and later studied antiquities in Rome. His observations first appeared in English in 1615 and his text was soon regarded as a special authority on the Levant. He has been called the first 'classical tourist' of England. Sandys also was interested in colonial promotion, and was one of the undertakers named in the third charter of the Virginia Company in 1611, and later treasurer and a member of the Council. This book also became popular in the Netherlands and was several times republished. - A fine clean copy.

A FIRST -HAND ACCOUNT OF AN EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY
SLAVE SOCIETY

121 STEDMAN, John Gabriel. Narrative, of a five years' expedition, against the revolted negroes of Surinam, in Guiana, on the Wild Coast of South America; from the year 1772, to 1777: elucidating the history of that country, and describing its productions .. with an account of the Indians .. & negroes of Guinea. 2nd edition, corrected. London, J. Johnson, 1806.

2 volumes. 4to. Later half calf (Edmund Lloyd Harley), spines gilt in compartments, with green morocco title labels to spines. With aquatint frontispiece, engraved vignettes on titles, 3 folding maps and 77 aquatint plates (including a large folding view of Paramaribo) by William Blake, Francesco Bartolozzi, a.o. (foxed as usual). XVIII,423,(4); IV,419,(5) pp. € 3.850,00

First published in 1796, it has gone through more than twenty editions in six languages; with armorial bookplate of Anthony Wilkinson. - Captain John Gabriel Stedman, an officer in the Scots Brigade in Holland, volunteered for service against the negroes in Dutch Guiana. While out there he to all intents married the subject of plate 8, Joanna, a Mulatto, and had a son by her, who became a midshipsman in the British Navy, but died young. ' While he did his duty as a soldier .. he does not disguise his sympathy with the rebels .. His description of the cruelties practised on the negroes, and of the moral deterioration resulting to their masters, forms one of the most vivid indictments of slavery that have ever been penned' (DNB). Stedman (1744-1797), a keen observer living for more than four years in the colony of Surinam, derives much of what he reports from first-hand observation, but even his reports of hearsay represent key primary data, in that they disclose rich details about everyday plantation discourse. The text consists of the romance with Joanna and his efforts to gain her freedom, the military campaigns against the rebel slaves, his relations with other soldiers, particularly his commanding officer, Fourgeoud, the description and investigation of exotic flora and fauna, the description of Indian and African slave life, and most important, the description and analysis of relations between planters and slaves. The engravings show the habitations of both the natives and the Europeans, local flora and fauna, ships, forts, tools, battle plans, and map of the area. - A first-hand account of an eighteenth-century slave society. - Apart from stains on the plates due to the quality of the paper, a good copy.

First edition; with armorial bookplate of J. de Stuers. - Interesting account based on information and reports collected by De Stuers (1788-1861) when he was military commandant and resident of Padang between 1824 and 1829. He left the colony after a conflict with the governor-general about the expansion of authority in Sumatra. 'Veth published the book because it clarified a little-known episode in colonial history. In Veth's view, it underscored the need for the Netherlands to concern itself more actively with the administration of the Outer Islands. In an annotated introduction running to over a hundred pages Veth reviewed the history of Dutch military action on Sumatra' (Van der Velde, P.J. Veth, p. 119). 4to. Modern limp vellum, with ties. With woodcut printer's device on title-page and several woodcut head- and tail-pieces, and initials. XXIV,516,20 pp. € 1.750,00

Second edition, first printed at Rome in 1672. - Vincenzo Maria was a Carmelite missionary whose name was Antonio Murchio. His book 'is far more than an itinerary of the Carmelite mission to India: Book I tells of the journey to Malabar; Book II is about the St. Thomas Christians; Book III is on the political, religious, and social life of Malabar; Book IV, probably prepared with the aid of Father Matthew, describes the plants of Malabar, tells of the return trip to Europe, and includes a description of Goa. While he cites a number of earlier European commentators on India, his description of Malabar, where he lived for almost one year (February, 1657, to January, 1658), is original and perceptive. .. He spent very little time in the port cities and came to know interior places rarely frequented by Europeans' (Lach, Asia in the making III, p.892). 'Perhaps the most important of the 17th century Italian travellers' (Atabey p.689). He journeyed through Turkey, Lebanon, Syria, Persia before he finally arrived in India. He had a keen eye and has much of interest to record about manners, customs, costumes, natural history, etc. He returned to his homeland via Muscat which he describes over a chapter. 'The present account is much more detailed than the usual contemporary reports' (Hünersdorff, Coffee, p 1045). - (Some staining and soiling). *Atabey Collection 1297 (3rd edition); not in Blackmer or Weber; Streit V, 538; Cat.
